Vision Wine & Spirits adds Kosher Wines to Portfolio

Vision Wine & Spirits, LLC has announced the addition to its portfolio of Kosher wine brands Pavolino and Dakor from Italy and Chile, respectively.

Pavolino wines are from the Veneto region of Italy and include Pinot Grigio and Pinot Noir, both available in 750ml for a suggested $9 retail and a full-sparkling Prosecco for a suggested retail of $12. The wines are perfect year-round consumption and for entertaining a wide variety of guests.

Dakor is from the Curico Valley in Chile, which is well known for its ideal climate for viticulture with both its coastal proximity and protection by surrounding hills. The Dakor line includes a Chardonnay and Cabernet Sauvignon available in 750ml each for a suggested $9 retail.

All of the Dakor and Pavolino wines are certified Kosher by the Orthodox Union, Mevushal (Kosher for Passover) and no animal products are used in the production, making them suitable for vegan consumption.

Pavolino and Dakor wines complement Vision's existing portfolio, which already includes Kosher spirits from Maraska and Berentzen.
